of Warsaw University of Life Sciences – SGGW

Conference aims

International Scientific Conference "Economic Sciences for Agribusiness and Rural Economy" is going for the fourth time to create a platform for exchanging the scientific community and practitioners' views, both from Poland and abroad. The research interests focus on the contemporary needs of the economy. The main theme of this year's conference is to discuss the consequences of broadly understood crises and uncertainty for the agri-food sector and rural areas.

Additionally, one of the conference panels will be devoted to young scientists. This panel is a continuation of the Scientific Conference "Challenges of the modern economy in the perspective of young scientists", which has been organised annually since 2014.

Conference topics

- ◆ Adaptation processes of agribusiness enterprises
- ◆ Trends in agriculture and food economy changes
- ◆ International trade and factors of production flow
- ◆ Policy towards agriculture and rural areas
- ◆ Macroeconomic conditions for the development of agriculture, food industry, and rural areas
- ◆ Finance and insurance in agri-food sector
