

ABOUT

The Institute of Economics and Finance of the Warsaw University of Life Sciences – SGGW was established on October 1, 2019.

The Institute was established as a research unit from the Faculty of Economic Sciences (previously named: Faculty of Economics and Agriculture, Faculty of Engineering and Economics of Agriculture), which was founded in 1953. Thus, the Institute is a direct successor and trustee of the scientific heritage as well as a continuator of the research activities of the Faculty.

Having in mind the tradition of the Warsaw University of Life Sciences – SGGW and taking into account contemporary challenges, the Institute of Economics and Finance operates in the scientific discipline of economics and finance, primarily focusing on agri-food economy and rural development.

As a developing research unit, the Institute of Economics and Finance strives for the highest quality of scientific research as well as knowledge transfer through educating students, cooperation with national and foreign scientific institutions, and also with local, national and international partners.

We adhere to the highest ethical norms, academic and equality standards.

ACTIVITIES

The Institute of Economics and Finance employs researchers, lecturers and administrative staff. In 2021, the Institute employed 140 researchers and lecturers, 10 administrative staff, and 24 doctoral students.

The Institute is a dynamically developing research centre that conducts numerous national and international research, applied and teaching projects.

Results of research carried out at the Institute are disseminated through scientific publications that can be reached through SGGW Knowledge Database www.bw.sggw.edu.pl.

Conferences are another important form of disseminating Institute's achievements and promoting the exchange of knowledge.

Teaching at undergraduate, graduate and doctoral levels by the staff of the Institute is provided for students of the Faculty of Economics, other faculties and Doctoral School of SGGW as well as other HEI. The staff members of the Institute also carry out teaching projects abroad successfully.

Expert and advisory activities as well as close cooperation with business, central and local administration and the NGO sector constitute an important element of the Institute's mission and are constantly developed.
