Dear Sirs,

The Department of Economics and Economic Policy at the Institute of Economics and Finance, Warsaw University of Life Sciences, is delighted to invite you to participate in the 14th periodic conference on “Changes in the food economy in European countries” under the theme “Armed conflicts and agri-food economy”. The conference is to be a forum for the debate of the domestic and foreign scientific and non-scientific community on the multidimensional aspects of the Russian military invasion of Ukraine launched on February 24, 2022 and other contemporary armed conflicts, with particular emphasis on their consequences for the agri-food sector and rural areas.

SCOPE OF THE CONFERENCE

1. Wars and defence throughout the history of economic thought
2. War impact on local and global markets for products and production factors
3. Energy and food crises caused by armed conflicts
4. External and internal migrations during armed conflicts and their socio-economic consequences
5. War and disturbances in the agri-food chain
6. Threats to stability and financial resilience of entities and sectors of the national economy caused by military conflicts
7. Implications of armed conflicts for rural areas and their inhabitants
8. Policies (economic, social, etc.) in response to war and its aftermath
